

DALA HORSES

Dala Horses are often made from pine trees that grow all over Sweden. Men who worked in the forests would often carve horses out of wood and bring them home to their children. Their bright patterns and colors are inspired by the walls and furniture of Swedish buildings. At the World's Fair in 1939, they became an international symbol to represent the country of Sweden.

What would a toy that represents you look like?
Write 3-5 sentences to describe your toy and draw a picture.

Some things you could think about:
If you were an action figure, what accessories would you come with?
What kind of stuffed animal do you think you're most like?
Think about a toy you love. How could you add your personality to that toy?

STAMP for Passport

Cut the stamp and paste it in your passport!

